

EVERYTHING BUT THE KITCHEN SINK?

Running water is an indoor kitchen staple. And it's nice in an outdoor kitchen too. But not every outdoor kitchen needs it. Consider the following when deciding whether to run water to an outdoor kitchen sink:

- Do you need a sink?
- How frequently will you use your outdoor sink?
- Will underground water lines be required?
- Where will the water drain?
- Do you live in a climate in which water lines may freeze and burst?
- Will you need hot water?
- Would an on-demand water heater suffice?
- Would running a single, cold water line save you money on utilities?
